

ABSTRACT

An ear seal is disclosed for use in a headset in which the ear seal includes an inner annular surface and an outer annular surface, wherein the ear seal further includes a thermal storage material proximate the outer annular surface. The thermal storage material is capable of storing thermal energy as latent heat of phase change.